Thanksgiving Proclamation.

By the President of the United States. A Proclamation.

In furtherance of the custom of this people the close of each year to engage, upon a day apart for that purpose, in special festival of praise to the Giver of all good, I, Chester A. Arthur, president of the United States, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as the day for national thanksgiving. The year which is drawing to an end has been replete with evidences of divine goodness, the prevalence of health, the fullness of harvests, the stability of peace and order, the growth of fraternal feelings, the spread of intelligence and learning, and continued enjoyment of civil and religious liberty. All these, and countless other blessings are cause for reverent rejoicing. I do, therefore, recommend that on the day above appointed the people rest from their accustomed labors, and in their several places of worship express their devout gratitude to God that He hath dealt so bountifully with this nation, and pray that His grace and favor may abide with it forever.

(Signed) CHESTER A. ARTHUR.
By the President: FRANKLIN M. FLETCHER, Secretary of State.

The government sold 19,400,000 acres of land last year. This is becoming a great country for land-owners.

Governor Baller will not issue his thanksgiving proclamation till after the election. Its spirit will be framed according to the result next Tuesday.

England is trying to out-do New Jersey in dealing out stern justice. An Englishman has been sent to prison for six months for stealing a postage stamp from a London tradesman.

It was once thought that Connecticut would not do anything worse than manufacture wooden nutmegs, but the report comes from that state that farmers are buying oleomargarine, molding it over at home, and supplying it in Hartford as the genuine product of their own dairies.

The Keely motor company has held another meeting. Mr. Keely made some statements regarding his progress, and the directors were well pleased. These meetings of the motor company and Mr. Keely's explanations are very much like the meetings Nabby tells us about which frequently took place at Bascom's. There is about as much humor in one as in the other.

A report came from Washington that Joseph H. Bradley, a lawyer of Washington, who has passed his 80th birthday recently married Miss Mary Harris, 50 years of age. The bride will be remembered as the person who killed A. J. Burroughs, of Chicago, in the corridor of the treasury department, eighteen years ago, for breaking his promise to marry her. She was acquitted and sent to an insane asylum for treatment. It is said that she once lived in Janesville, and is well known by many of the old settlers.

The Milwaukee Sentinel moralizes as follows: "Frank James, a thief, a robber, and doubtless a murderer, held for trial at Gallatin, Mo., is allowed the freedom of the town, and goes shopping with his wife and child. In the same jail where he is nominally confined, is a negro with a ball and chain attached to his legs, who is charged with stealing a ham for his family. No wonder that Matthew Arnold thinks that we lack lucidity as a people." This kind of justice is one of America's peculiar institutions. Small criminals have the respect and sympathy of no one, but a big thief, or a bold, dashing robber and a murderer, sometimes can command a court, win a jury, and challenge a sort of a public confidence.

The annual report of Adjutant General Drum, of the United States army, says the army is steadily improving in discipline, soldierly bearing, and knowledge. Some parts of this statement will be taken by the public as a joke. He recommends the retirement, on full pay, of men who have faithfully served thirty-five years, and the enactment of an amendment to the status authorizing the president to drop from the rolls of the army for desertion any officer absent from duty three months without leave, so as to include officers on the retired list within the meaning of the law. The last recommendation has a bearing on the Nickerson case. He also recommends that the term of enlistment be reduced from five to three years. The army still lacks 2,149 men of its full quota.

SCHOOL ACCOMMODATIONS.

It is reported that during the month of September, 2,902 children were refused admission to the primary department of the public schools of New York because of lack of accommodations. This is only a few more than the average refusals each month. The city press is demanding that room and instruction be furnished in the primary branches for all children that apply.

This condition of affairs in New York, is not different from that in many towns and cities in the west. There have been times in Chicago, when the school authorities were compelled to divide the school time among those who made application for admission into the schools. A certain number were permitted to attend school in the forenoon, and remain at home in the afternoon to accommodate those who could not gain admission in the forenoon. Many other cities beside Chicago, have been troubled in the same way. Children of school age are multiplying in greater proportion than school house accommodations. In 1882, there were 387,474 children in this state over 4 and under 20 years of age; and the number of school houses would accommodate 313,337. In some sections of the state where the population is pretty well scattered, the school houses accommodations are ample, but in the older settled portions of the state, the sittings are not always equal to the demand.

THE FEMALE HUSBAND.

One of the strangest freaks of the human mind we have had illustrated of late is the case of Mrs. S. J. Hudson, of Waupun, who formerly lived at Fond du Lac. She was the wife of a Mr. Hudson, of the latter place, who did not seem to have any special calling, and made a sort of a precarious living by doing whatever happened in his way. Mrs. Hudson is thirty-three years old and has three children. She became tired of helping her husband to support the family, and concluded to leave him. She dressed as a man, went to Waupun, assumed the name of Frank Hudson, and began doing odd bits of work such as sawing wood, painting, carpentering, and so on, and a report has it that she smoked and chewed tobacco, and grew vulgar and profane. While working at Waupun she became acquainted with Gertrude Fuller, who was only 17 years old, and pretending to fall in love with her, won her, and married her. Mrs. Hudson carried on the deception with signal shrewdness and no one suspected that Frank Hudson was a woman. Miss Fuller did not dream of being deceived until the night after the marriage, when, of course, the sex of her pretended husband was revealed to her. Notwithstanding the fact that she was cheated and grossly deceived, Miss Fuller kept the secret in her own heart, and seemed to be really in love with her pretended husband, and promised not to leave her.

By some indiscretion on the part of the female husband, she was suspected, and Mr. Hudson was sent for who confronted his own wife. To a newspaper reporter Mrs. Hudson made a full confession, but the only explanation she could make of her course, was that she was tired of living as a wife and doing housework, and that she could best earn a living by pretending to be a man. What the result of this singular affair will be, can not be judged. We agree with the Inter Ocean that both parties concerned in this ridiculous transaction are fit candidates for the insane asylum.

PRESIDENTIAL SPECULATIONS.

For some time the democratic papers have been indulging in speculation regarding the result of the presidential contest in 1884. They have figured out a great many 'democratic' victories on paper, and for the twenty-three years have never failed to show how easy it was to elect a democratic president. But votes are what counts, and at every national election since Lincoln was first elected, the democrats have seen their speculations knocked to the winds and their hopes blasted. They are now busily engaged in showing how a democratic victory will be won next year. They trust themselves generously. They not only elect their man but they have a surplus of 50 electoral votes, and yet count Massachusetts, Ohio, and Wisconsin doubtful! What an easy time they will have next year putting in the 'old ticket' or any other ticket they choose to nominate! But a table of very probable vote in 1884 has been published in the State Journal. It is one which will most likely be verified by actual results, and is herewith given:

Democrat.	Republican.
Alabama.....	California.....
Arkansas.....	Colorado.....
Delaware.....	Florida.....
Georgia.....	Idaho.....
Kentucky.....	Illinois.....
Louisiana.....	Indiana.....

The electoral college will have 401 votes next year, and 201 will be necessary for a choice. The states in the right hand column are naturally republican states, and all were carried in 1880 by Garfield, except California, and that would have been saved had it not been for the forged Morley letter which the national democratic committee bought and ordered printed as a campaign document. The states in the left-hand column are naturally democratic, except Colorado, but that was carried both by Hayes and Garfield. The State Journal thinks that Maryland can be carried by the republicans next year, but that is doubtful, notwithstanding the democrats are "all broke up" in that state.

Probably the most doubtful state in the republican column is New York. We could have given that state to the democrats in 1880, and yet elected General Garfield, but it is hardly possible to lose it in 1884 and elect a republican president. Many of the democratic states—and nearly all of them are in the south—have had their electoral vote increased under the new appointment in greater proportions than the republican states. But still, with a strong ticket in the field, with the popularity and wisdom of President Arthur's administration, and with the well-established record of the democratic party to commit blunders and wand off public confidence, the republicans are almost sure of success in 1884.

SCANDAL IN GOTHAM.

Women Who Are Going to Break Up Housekeeping.

A Number of Cases Where the Convenient Divorce Laws of Rhode Island Are Being Utilized.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 3.—It is generally believed that five well known New York ladies are residing here for the purpose of securing divorces from their husbands under the very lenient laws of this state, which simply require parties to be apart at the state before securing a legal separation. Many names are freely used at the Casino, the clubs, and upon the street, but as yet none of the ladies have officially made known their intentions to the clerk of the court.

Mrs. Henry Turnbull, of New York, who is a great favorite in social circles, arrived here with her children, no less than twenty large trunks, and took a year's lease of the cottage on the corner of Kay and Bull streets, owned by Mrs. E. W. Howard. Mrs. Turnbull was accompanied from New York by three servants, and by Col. Delaney Kane, Mrs. Kane, and Mrs. Walter L. Kane, sister-in-law of Col. Kane. It is alleged that Mrs. Turnbull will be allowed to secure a divorce at the proper time, and that satisfactory terms have been agreed upon between her and the hero of the Cohen club scandal.

Mrs. Turnbull is rich, while her husband is not possessed of any means to speak of. Shortly after the Union club sensation he secured a position as clerk in one of the departments at Washington, but he only retained the position a short time. It is also understood he is heartbroken and has lost all his ambition. Mrs. Turnbull was not at the wharf by her 12-year-old son, who had preceded her.

It is admitted that Mrs. Oliver Hazard Perry Belmont, nee Whiting, of New York, is determined to apply for a divorce. Belmont is a son of August Belmont, the banker, and resided from the navy last year. He was married to Miss Whiting in December last. Mrs. Belmont is the mother of a daughter, born a few weeks ago. The trouble originated while the couple were spending the honeymoon in Europe, and it is alleged that Mrs. Belmont has good and sufficient grounds for asking a separation. Her case is in the hands of William Sheffield one of the ablest lawyers in the state.

Mrs. Belmont while abroad resided with her mother, Mrs. S. S. Whiting, who is a daughter of the late Judge Swan, of Ohio. Mrs. Whiting was so indignant at the unaccountable and prolonged absence of her three months' old son-in-law, and with his conduct, that she packed up and took her family to New York, arriving early in July. This step was determined upon by Mr. Belmont as a punishment for their absence. Mr. Belmont returned to New York on the next steamer, and caused to be published through the Associated Press a denial of the report that he and his wife had separated. The Whiting family came immediately to Newport and took possession of their home here.

Up to this day Mr. Belmont has never been permitted to call upon his wife or child. It looks as if he intends to show fight, as he, too, announces that he will spend the winter here. He is now here, and intends to reside upon his father's farm, Oakland, in the town of Portsmouth, about five miles from this city. A relative of the family caused an announcement to be made in the local paper to the effect that Mr. Belmont would "permanently reside here."

Other names are given, but at present there is no visible proof that they intend to ask for the uniting of the marriage knot. Efforts will be made at the January session of the legislature to reform the divorce laws of the state in a manner which will not be released by those who contend that Rhode Island is ahead of Chicago in the matter of getting divorces at short notice.

New York, Nov. 3.—Inquiry at the Union club elicited the fact that Henry Turnbull is now living in Washington. His brother William was seen by a reporter, who informed him of the storm circulating in New York.

"I think," said Mr. Turnbull, "it is an attempt to rake up old stories which have already been far too prominent. I am not positively informed about the matter, but I don't think there is much truth in the rumor."

"Have they been living apart?"

"They have but I have no idea that she is living in Newport for the purpose stated. I am inclined to believe that the whole affair discloses a morbid desire to get up a sensation."

The Union Club scandal, in which Mr. Turnbull and Mr. Lombard were involved, created quite a sensation in clubs and fashionable circles in this city in May, 1882. The two gentlemen named were members of the Union Club, Mr. Lombard being one of the ten life members. According to the most reliable accounts published at the time, J. F. THE FIRST WARD.

James Shearer Nominated for Alderman.

Election on Monday, November 5th.

Turn Out and See that James Shearer is Elected.

The republicans of the first ward rallied at the west side engine house last evening, pursuant to notice given by the ward committee, for the purpose of nominating a republican candidate for alderman, to fill vacancy. The caucus was well attended, and was called to order at 7:30 o'clock by Mr. A. McDougall, chairman of the ward committee, when Mr. C. E. Bowles was elected secretary.

Coleman W. B. Brinton moved that Mr. James Shearer be nominated for alderman by acclamation. The motion was unanimously adopted, and Mr. Shearer was declared duly nominated as the republican candidate.

The caucus then adjourned. Remember the election takes place on Monday.

Mr. S. B. Clemons, who is employed in one of the furniture establishments of Rockford, is in the city on a brief visit to his family. Mr. Clemons contemplates removing his family to Rockford next spring.

The republicans acted wisely last evening in placing Mr. James Shearer in nomination for alderman of that ward. He is one of the best men in the ward for that position, and he will be elected by a good majority.

Some of the first ward democrats are claiming that Mr. Shearer will have an easy walk-away, with Mr. Croft in Monday's election, which will be the case if the republicans all turn out and vote. There is no side issue in the contest.

Haley and DeJean, of Rutland, Dane county, who were found guilty of netting ducks and sending the same to Chicago, were fined by the municipal court in Madison, seventy-five dollars and costs, each. The case has been appealed.

There will be preaching in German, in the Sunday school room of Court Street M. E. church to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, by the pastor of the German M. E. church of Fort Atkinson. All are cordially invited to be present.

One dollar and costs, all amounting to four dollars and ninety-two cents, were assessed against a drunk in the municipal court yesterday afternoon. In default of payment, the unfortunate inebriate was sent to the county jail for ten days.

The east-side boys put their horse cart out on Mr. Pitcher's scales yesterday, and he pulled up the beam at thirteen hundred pounds. There was some wild guessing at the cart's weight by the spectators who took an interest in the animal.

M. C. Smith received an addition to his stock of ladies' garments this morning, his sale on these goods has been so large the past month it has been almost impossible to keep up an assortment of sizes of his magnificent seal plush garments.

The republicans of the first ward should not fail to attend the polls in that ward on Monday and cast their votes for Mr. James Shearer, for alderman. The caucus forced the nomination upon him, and he is therefore entitled to receive the vote of every republican in the ward.

A social party will be given by the Old Fellows in their hall in the Smith block, on Monday evening, for Old Fellows and their families. Dancing from eight to twelve o'clock. All Old Fellows and their families cordially invited. Anderson's orchestra will be present.

Mr. W. H. Graves' sewing machine wagon was run into, while standing in front of Griffiths' hardware store, last evening, and overturned, scattering a lot of machine oil. The other vehicle was in charge of a couple of ladies who did not stop to ascertain the amount of damage.

Colley, of Turtle; will meet for the purpose of examining the claims against the county, on Monday next, in the county clerk's office. The committee will probably be in session several days. The county board will meet on Tuesday, November 18th, in annual session.

The little three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Albright, residing on Mr. M. M. Phelps' farm on the Afton road, was severely bitten through the eye-lid yesterday afternoon by a dog on the farm. The dog bit the child three times before it was driven off. The wounds of the child were attended to by a physician, and the ugly canine was immediately killed.

We understand that Mr. James Croyle, the equestrian manager of the Burr Robbins & Co's great American and German shows, will be in the city on Monday for the purpose of witnessing the attempt (which has often been tried in this city) of a person riding two horses, while traveling in opposite directions. Should the aforesaid attempt prove a success, we understand Mr. Croyle is authorized to engage his man at any price for next season. The result will probably be made public about five o'clock on Monday night.

The Chicago Times, of to-day, publishes an article of over a column in length giving an account of the collapse of the Beloit paper company, which according to the latest reports from Beloit is a little premature, to say the least; the latest word from Beloit relating to the trouble of the company says: "The rumor of the failure of the Rock River paper company is considered premature. The firm has assets to the amount of double the liabilities, and hope that all matters will be adjusted satisfactorily."

Major Chas. W. Stark, formerly of La Prairie, but now of Spink county, Dakota, who joined the procession westward last spring for the purpose of enrolling his name among the pioneers of that much praised land of Jumbo vegetables, returned yesterday afternoon, intending to spend the winter at his old home and not take any chances with Dakota blizzards. Major Stark brought home a specimen of the turnips raised in Spink county on soil, and the one exhibited to us weighed fourteen pounds, as Mr. Stark says, he did not have room in his "grip" to bring along one of the larger variety. Charley will be cordially welcomed home by his army of friends.

Successful Burglars.

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. W. S. Webber, on South Second street, between Main and Bluff, at about half past one o'clock this morning and succeeded in obtaining money and valuables amounting to about sixty dollars. Mr. Webber left home on Thursday for Appleton, to assume the superintendency of the Appleton boot and shoe company, leaving his wife, children and hired girl to keep house for the winter. On Thursday night, Mrs. Webber, who occupied the bed room on the lower floor at the east side of the house, thought she heard a noise, as if some one trying the windows, but not hearing it the second time, she went to sleep. Last night, about one o'clock, she awoke and thought she heard a noise in the parlor, as though some one was opening the doors and drawers of Mr. Webber's secretary and book case, which was nearly opposite her bed room door, but this noise did not frighten her, and she again went to sleep. She was soon aroused, however, by feeling something crowding under her pillow, and being partly asleep, she imagined it was the kitten, but the hand, as it proved to be, was still further crowded under the pillow until it touched her head. She then realized that a burglar was in her room, and raised up in bed. She saw a man pass from the bedroom into the parlor, where he struck a stool and tumbled, and then passed out the front door. She also heard a noise soon after as of two persons talking. The burglars succeeded in gathering about fifty-two or three dollars in money, and some jewelry, including a watch case. Her children had a little bank which was in their father's secretary, in which they were saving their father's Christmas present, but the burglars took bank and all. Upon retiring to bed last night, Mrs. Webber placed her money, consisting of five $5 bills, two $10 bills, and a $1 bill in her stocking, and placed it on the floor of her bed room by the side of her shoes. She thinks the burglars must have been watching her when she retired, as the stockings were both taken, one of which was found in the parlor this morning, and the other on the walk near the front gate. Her watch and case and a neck chain belonging to one of the children, was under her pillow; the burglar took the case and chain, but missed the watch. He also ransacked the bureau in the bedroom, pulling out the drawers, and turning over everything. He evidently took his time. He gained an entrance through a window in the upper part of the house, second story, and had to pass through the bed room of the hired girl and down stairs, opening the front door as a means of exit. He went from Mrs. Webber's house to Mr. William Rogers', on the street near by, where an attempt was made to gain an entrance, but Mrs. Rogers being alone she illuminated the house, and the burglars were frightened away. Mrs. Webber and her children were terribly frightened when they found a burglar in the house, and one of the little ones was almost thrown into convulsions by the fright.
